How to help someone with a problem

Our typical response is jump in and tell them what to do. This approach robs them of the experience of receiving revelation for themselves and growing in their relationship with the Lord, and makes them dependent on you or other people for their success in life.

Here's a better option:

John/Jane: I have this huge problem... [shares with you what's going on]

You: What will you do? -or- What would you like to do about this?

J J: I don't know what to do. What should I do?

You: Let's take a few minutes to pray, and let's see what the Lord shows you. [pray]

You: What are you hearing or seeing?

J J: Nothing.

You: Ok, would it be alright if I share with you something from the Bible?

J J: Sure.

You: [read a relevant passage] What do you think the Lord is saying here about your situation?

J J: I'm not really sure.

You: Ok, let's ask Him to help you understand it better. [pray] Now read it again and tell me what you think He's saying.

J J: I'm not really sure but... [gives some explanation]

You: Great! You're on the right track. Here's what this word means [give some additional explanation]

You: So based on that, what do you think is the best way to handle this problem?

J J: Well, I guess I should... [gives their answer]

You: Awesome! You got it! How will you put this into practice?

J J: I'm going to [gives their answer]

You: Great! Would you like me to ask you how it went next time we meet?

J J: Yes, please.

You: My pleasure, let's pray [pray for them to follow through]
